Who has ever attended a smelling concert? How many persons have any idea what a smelling concert is?

To begin with, "smelling concert is?

To begin with, "smelling concert" can hardly be termed a happy combination of words. However accurate it be as a description of a totally new and highly original form of public entertainment, there is no euphony in the term and it defidedly lacks delicacy; but the man to whom credit for all this is due, young D. McFarlan Moore, whose recent discoveries in electrical science are attracting general attention, considers the matter from another point of view.

"Almost everybody with refined usies and feelings nucels this idea at first as though it suggested something repulsive," said he. "Second thought, however, soon banishes such impressions, and the comes evident that we have until now been enjoying but four-fifths of this life, since there are five senses. Most life, since there are five senses Most life, since there is no reason why man should not reap just as bountiful a harvest of enjoyment from bits sense of smell as from any other of his senses—that of hearing, for instance, Imagine for a moment the difference between the for a moment the difference between the rear fultie. The great trouble, now-a-days, you know, is that certain well meaning swains saturate their garments with cheap perfumery to the regret of all endowed with superior offactory perception. Everyone ought to be aware that diaments of this same offactor nerve are in no way inferior to the nervous system are all connected with and controlled by a common center, the brain. That marvelous membrane the retina of the eye, which so wonderfully appreciates both intensity and color, all ages have attempted to satisfy, as well as to offer the most harmonious vibrations to the "membrana tympani" connecting with the auditory nerves. All the senses have utilitarian functions to perform, but aside from these each can be made to contribute in a greater or less decree to man's enjoyment."

"A mere glance at the human head," he continued "will show that the nose is the most prominent feature of the face, and the beautiful spray like filaments that are the termination of the nerve of smell, are more prominent than those of either the eye, ear or tongue. "Are scientists generally agreed that the race has a higher duty to its nose than has herefore been supposed?"

"That very subject is agitating, in some form or other, scientific circles all over the civilized world. Evolution is responsible for the intense longing which man now feels to satisfy those higher instincts or impulses of his nature. Every decade now counted with the past has lent its influence to this end. Thus it is that we foressee the exquisite delight in store for humanity when the smelling concert becomes a form of popular entertainment. As you know, Mozart once fainted when a discord struck his ear, and the rising generation will undoubtedly swoon away if assailed malodorously. Nay it will be possible to wage war along.

After the meeting had adjourned the members assembled at the grounds of the West-End Gun C. ub and participated in the annual shoot for medals. Ten of the best shots in Virginia entered the competition, which was witnessed by quite, a crowd; and the result is as follows:

The officers of the association were reelected.

THE WEEK'S CONVENTIONS

FAVORING ADDITIONAL IMMIGRA-TION AND GOOD ROADS.

The Two Gatherings to be He'd Under the Auspices of the Virginia State Agriculturni and Mechanical Society.

The arrangements for the State Immigration Convention, to be held in this city on next Tuesday and Wednesday, October 16th and 17th, are almost complete. It will take place under the auspices of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical Society at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, and it is hoped that a great deal of good will be accomplished by this gathering.

President Wood has received notification from county boards of supervisors and from various trade organizations in the State to the effect that they will be represented at the convention by delegates, and he, therefore, figures on a large attendance. As far as his information goes, all the speakers who have been selected to address the convention will be on hand, and the attractive programme which has been arranged offers sufficient guarantee that the discussions will be entertaining as well as instructive.

The Good Roads Convention, which will assemble in the same room on October 18th, at 10:30 A. M., also promises to create a lively interest, and as soon as the programme for the same has been agreed upon, it will be published in the columns of The Times.

President Henry Wood yesterday issued the following letter to the life members and stockholders of the Virginia State Agricultural and Mechanical Society, wherein he urges them to attend these two conventions:

PRESIDENT WOOD'S LETTER.

two conventions:

The life members and stockholders of the Virginia State Agricultural and Mechanical Society:

Gentlemen,—In accordance with the provisions of the constitution, requiring the annual meeting to be called during the annual meeting to be called during the annual meeting to be called during the annual exhibition, the same is hereby called for Thursday, October 18, 1894, at 7:30 P. M., in the assembly-room of the Chamber of Commerce. At that time of the Chamber of Commerce at that time officers to render anything like a satisfactory account of the operations and outcome of the Exposition; therefore, members of the Exposition; the median of the median of the commend that the meeting at that time be adjourned until a later date, so that full reports can be made to enable you to intelligently map out the work, and select your officers for the ensuing year.

I would particularly ask your attendance and support of the Immigration Convention, to be held under the auspices of the society October 16th and 17th. An attractive programme has been mapped out, and, with wise action, much good can be accomplished to attract desirable settlers, capital and new Industry to our State. I would also urge your attendance and participation in the Good Roads Convention, which meets at 19:20 o'clock A. M., October 18th, in the assembly-room of the Chamber of Commerce.

On behalf of the executive officers of the society, I ask your hearty support and co-operation in these undertakings, so as to make the same as successful and effective as possible.

Very truly yours. HENRY W. WOOD, President.

The Traffic Bureau Organized,

The Traffic Bureau Organized,

Mr. John C. Freeman, chairman of the Inland Trade Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, has issued a circular letter, in which he says:

The traffic bureau of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce has been formally established, with Mr. E. S. Goodman as manager.

The work of properly organizing the bureau for active business will probably consume from one week to ten days from date, but in the meantime such attention will be given to matters coming within its scope as will be practicable under the erroumstances. It is understood, of course, that its active organization for the immediate and prompt attention to all matters will be at the inception only partial, increasing in emiciency with the circumstances with which it has to deal and with its progressive equipment resulting from such ofroumstances. As the necessities procent themselves, in the cours of the development of its business, tariffs and other documentary information will be acquired, which should make each successive matter brought to its attention easier to deal with than in the immediate beginning of its work.

Mr. Goodman, the manager, will be located in the office, from 72, Chamber of Commerce building, October 15th. Subscribers to the bureau and members of the Chamber are, therefore, notified, in accordance with the above, to call upon the traffic bureau for such service as the nature of their business may require of it.

SILKS.

Compliments for our SILK selling are coming in fast. We are not boastful when we say they are deserved. Prices usually forbid Silks to lots of people.

The way we handled it last week made it possible for almost everybody to enjoy the luxury of a Silk Dress. It was our purpose to close the sale last Saturday night, but as we have a few of the "CUTTER" BLACK SILKS left we have decided to offer the balance of them To-Morrow with some other good values in Silks.

In addition to these we will also offer a grand bargain in

Colored Velvets.

S AM PURDY - THIS RENOWNED horse lately died. His colts at a year sold from $500 to $1,000. I have a staillion by him out of a Messenger mare, three and a half years old, which can be bought for a nominal sum. He is 15½ hands high, weighs 1,000 pounds, and shows a good gait, and with a little handling would go very fast. He, when a few weeks old, struck an eye on a fence-rail, ruining the sight, but never affecting the other eye. The animal was so superior there was urgency by gentlemen to keep him for breeding purposes. He is therefore offered for $150, as I am not situated for using him.
